"CHINA MAIL" CENSUS COMPETITION.

A census of the population of Hongkong is to be taken on May 20th, and in order that our readers man test their skill in estimating the growth of the population since the last census the China Mail is promoting a competition under three heads, asking its subscribers to predict the numbers of—(1), The total civil population: (2), Chinese population: (3), European and American population. We have, for the guidance of competitions, given the figures for the last two numberings. All competitors have to do is to cut out the coupons, fill in their estimate and forward them to our office, with the words "Census Competition" in the top left-hand corner of the envelope. Competitors may send in as many coupons as they desire. A prize will be given for the most correct estimate under each head. In the case of a tie the estimate first opened will be adjudged the winner.

THE DANGERS OF DYSENTERY.

HOW TO OVERCOME THEM.

There is no need to dilate on its symptoms, or the intense pain it causes, for these things are among overyone's commonest

Even when the disease is accumtely lefined, and there is not the alightest suspicion to assume, as Sir Joseph Fayrer, in his book on "Preservation of Health in India," says : "Diarrhoon cometimes means incipient cholers," it is, nevertheless, imperative to be on one's guard, and, after arresting the progress of the disease, to build up the strength so as to enable the patient to withstand the myages made by the complaint, and to safeguard him against a return. This is particularly the case with children, for, as the physician who wrote the well-known little book, "How to Keep Well in India. All diarrhocal ailments roquire very special care in all tropical climates. Apparently simple at their comtwenty-four hours, and, if it survives, may stunt its growth even for years."

Naturally, no ordinary individual would dream of troating such cases himself, and all sufferers from Dysontery seek the advice of their physician. He invariably follows the routine treatment hid down by Sir Joseph Fayrer of prescribing ipeacuanha, followed by Dover's powder and quinine, with perfect rest in bed, slop diet, coupled with the arresting of any sudden relaxation of the bowels by astringents combined with a few drops of laudanum. Eventually, time comes when it is necessary to begin building up the strength and getting the vital forces which have been reduced to a low level to burn

For this purpose, what is essentially needed is a preparation which will supply the weakened digestive organs with food brain and nervous system. Given separately, these substances would soon destroy even strong digestive organs and produce dyspepsia. When they are chemically combined, however, they aid the digestion in a very marked manner, and, acting both on the nervous and physical side of the body at the same time.

It has received the written endorsement of over 13,000 doctors, including ten physicians to crowned heads of Europe, and it is commonly spoken of as "the tonic food with lasting effects," for the reason that, unlike other tonics, the results it produces do not the 12th April, 1911, at 2.30 r.m., at his of the Annexe, suitable for Offices. The result is that, as the distinguished physician. Sir William Gowers, anong others, has pointed out; the red blood corpuscles multiply with remarkable rapidity, fre-

There can be no doubt but that H. E. Cheung intends to suppress gambling if possible. It is reported that he has arranged a corps of fifty special police whose duty it is to see that no gambling goes on. According to a report before us, these men are to be divided into three classes according to their assumed ability: The first class are to give their attention 7金山禪禄 to the official yamens; the second are to look after business men and the literati, while the third division is to pay attention to the common crowd and the usual dens. It is also announced, for the instruction of all concerned, that these special police have been paid good salaries and therefore must not ask for money from any person. On the other hand, if it be known that they are remiss in their duty and if they fall to report any breaches of the taw, of allow themselves to be talked over by any one, the severest penalties will be meted .

out to them by the Viceroy. A Military official named Ma Taz-fung has been told off to select these men and look after them. From this it appears that th officials mean business and intend to see that the law is carried out efficiently.

WINE MERCHANTS UP IN ARMS.

It is well known that the new tax placed by the Canton officials upon native wines or spirits is regarded with extreme disfavour by many of the people and especially by the merchants themselves. It appears that wine distillers throughout many districts, including Sanwui, Chantsun and Taingyuen, have banded themselves together and decided, as a protest, to shut down their distilleries. In Fatshan recontly the big Yanwo distillery led the way and shut down. The master was at once arrested by the officials whose duty it is to collect the tax. . He at once informed the several Shintongs of what had been done and published the arrest widely by means of placards, so that everybody was advised of the stand he had taken. It is not yet clear how the matter will end, for Chinese officials do not like encountering the 和事業 opposition of a guild and generally when EUROPEAN SUPERVISION such a combination is formed they are ready to compromise; some times they even completely collapse.

THE PINCH OF POVERTY.

The Wa Ts: Yat Po reports that recently he Viceroy of Canton has been compelled present needs of the local government. PATELL&CO., This apparently is quite inadequate for at least two millions more are required. It has been decided, that as taxation is very Exporters & Importers heavy at present and the people are not likely to submit to any further imposts that there shall be some attempt made at recrenchment. Several officials have been giving special attention to this matter, and they think they can see their way to effect ing some economy in regard to military expenditures. Also it is suggested that official salaries should be somewhat curtailed, and especially the usual perquisties which mount up to a considerable sum during any year. This suggestion has come from the thicials themselves. The matterhas been referred to the Minister of the Interior and to the Provincial Treasurer, who apparently are willing to look favourably upon the suggestion. Verily Kwanting seems entering on a new era of offica!

CHINESE AND GAMBLING.

Romarkable Movement in Borneo.

We take the following from the British North Borneo Herald for April :-A potition from the Chinese community of the whole State is being prepared and will shortly be submitted to Government, which embodies a universal request for the abolition of gambling in British North Borneo. Meetings have been held in every place of importance in the country, and the petition is sanctioned by all Chinese Chambers of Commerce. An unanimous opinion has been expressed by the leading Chinese of the country on the following points.

a. That all licensed and open gambling should be prohibited. b...That no monopoly for gambling should be given by Government.

c. That all licensed gambling houses should be closed. d. That whereas Government Servants are forbidden to gamble by Law, that Law should include all classes in the State. e. That gambling is a cause of theft and the abduction and sale of daughters of the Chinese for immoral purposes. J. That although the instinct of gambling amongst the Chinese is inborn, that very fact makes it the more undesirable for gambling to be sanctioned by Govern-

g. That although the abolition of gambling must occasion loss of Rovenue to the country—the country has now reached that state of prosperity when re should see is regarded as a vice. h. That gambling in the Crown Colonies Great Britain, where there are large Chinese communities, is forbidden by

CASTAWAY CREWS ISLAND

Penguins' Flesh and Sulphur Water.

A thrilling sea story was related at Plymouth by the survivors of the crow of the Glasgow steamer Parisiana, who continued their voyage on the P. and O. liner China to London. The Parisiana, a steamer of over 3,000 THE MERCANTILE BANK_OF tons, left New York for Melbourne on 29 Oct., and fire was discovered in the hold on 13 Dec. For four days the crew fought the flames, but the fire was too much for Romisson Roan, Hongkong. Moderate them, and when the steamer was about 160 miles from St. Paul Island they took to > Previously, one of the sailors, George 482 Tate, lost his life. He belonged to Liverpool, and was actively engaged with others in an effort to penetrate through the bulkhead, where the fire was centred, when an avalanche of coal from the bunkers awopt him off his feet. When extricated life was extinct. That night, the Parisiana, already a mass of flames, was stopped, and the remains of Tate were reverently committed to the deep.

The fire proved more than the crew could cope with, and at last, with the decks almost red-hot, 34 men, under Capt. Donald Gordon's direction, went over the side into the lifeboats.

TREMENDOUS BEAS. Then ensued a spell of terrific weather, and tremendous seas threatened destruction to the castaways. The boats became strained and were soon so leaky that the occupants had to throw away the lifebelts, spare oars, other gear, and clothing to lighton them, whilst baling had to be continuously maintained by the crew. Three days after leaving the Parisiana the first boat reached St. Paul Island, and there they found the remains of a hut in which many years before provi ions had been left by a French warship. The stores were mostly spoiled by exposure to the elements, but the famished sailors, who had previously been living on two biscuits and half a teacupful of water, made the best of in maggota ( When they had given up Capt. Gordon and his boat's crew as lost, the latter were sighted off the island, and were welcomed with rounds of cheers.

Already-one of the castaways named Bannon, the fourth engineer, had succumbed to exposure and had been buried among the group of graves found near the hut. Another man, Heinemann, died just after the captain's arrival, but the others withstood the rigors and hard food, although on New Year's Day nearly all the crew were scriously ill. The night before they had eaton heartily of a liver of a seal, that had TRESERVE been captured, and this is believed to have caused poisoning, as the faces and bodies of the men became swollen to an alarming extent. For days they were seriously ill, and unable to stand.

ATE PENGUINS PLESH. The chief food of the castaways was penguins' flesh. Penguins' eggs were, too, a guins' flesh. Penguins' eggs were, too, a Madras, Pondicherry, Calcutta, Bangkok, great delicacy. Drinking water could only Saigon, Haiphong, Hanoi, Amoy, Yokoha obtained by taking supplies from hot aulphur springs. When this had been collected in vessels, it had to be allowed to cool before it could be used, and even then it was highly charged with sulphur and other minerals as to be scarcely drinkable. The use of this water had an effect on the constitutions of the custaways, whose skin peoled off in strips. Eventually a British transport effected

THE BUTCHERY CO. DISPOTE.

To-day's Hearing.

The Chief Justice, Sir Francis Piggott, was again occupied at the Supreme Court to-day in hearing the ease in which John Tatam, runner of the King Edward Hotel, sund Frederick Howell, chief bailiff of the Supreme Court, for an account of the recoipts and disbut empits of the Hongkong Butchery and for such further and other roliuf

Mr Slade- I quite agree.

Mr Slade said unfortunately Ithey had not been able to obtain other slips from the Bank. He thought he might fairly say the most that he had not received the assistance he could reasonably expect. The other side had the dates, and had every means of proving what the dates were and yet they and not supplied them.

. Counsel then dealt with payments made during the first four months ?- I didn't to the Hongkong Butchery account after. January 3rd, 1897. He referred to an itemof 8:87.42 by cheque marked "Armstrong," and asked if that was in payment of the Butchery account.

That is shown by the what he could do with the parties in San Francisco. They would not pay anything, and that was the the finish of it.

So Johnson was ordering butter for the Hongkong Butchery Company ?-The order was through Johnson.

Producing a letter, Mr Slade asked -defendant if he meant to say that that letter was not on order an behalf of the Hongkong Butchery .-- Defendant replied that that was his contention.

Although the same man had been supplying butter to the Hongkong Butchery before ?-Yes.

Don't you remember that the Hongkong Butchery Company did sell butter gotfrom America?-I know nothing .whatever about it.

- NATIVE SCOUTS. The War Office at Peking has sent domaich to H. E. the Viceroy of Canton issimpling him to pay more attention t the formation of a corps of scouts. After | SWATOW, AMOY & FOOCHOW. some references to the importance of scouts in the personnel of the armies of western nations, it is pointed out that more attention should be given to the training of scouts in the army of China. A company of two hundred, therefore, are to be enrolled and special care is to be given to their training. When a certain mount of training has been accomplished, and when it is seen who among those enrolled have shown special aptitude for this work, a few are to be selected and sent for ward to the capital for a special course. The Chinese military authorities are watching movements in other countries at present day and feel that they must also be placed in possession of whatever other nations think indisponsable for their safety and efficiency.
